AMERICA A LAND OF OPPORTUNITY

Your Citizens May Be What They Choose to Be if They Have the Wit."

LABOR AN HONOR HERE.

"American Women Will Do Great Things, Thanks to the Chance They Have."

"The wonderful thing about Amertes is the chance it gives every boy and girl. You are without the class separation by which Europe is dominated. Your citizens may be what they choose to be, if they have the power of achievement within themselves. It is your democratic spirit which is so wholly admirable. In America labor is not a disgrace. It to an honor."

There's a cheering word for local pagriots who are disheartened and made cynical by pot-and-kettle politics! And it is uttered in earnestness and sincerity by a good friend and a great man-Dr. Ludwig Fulds. From the rather large group of brilliant writers produced by modern Germany three names stand out in capital letters. There is Hauptmann, there is Suderman, there is Pulda. And Fulda, poet, novelist and dramatist-New York has seen several of his plays-is with us for a long visit. "You have spoken of America as a fand of unlimited possibilities," I suggested. "Just what did you mean?" AMERICA THE LAND OF CHANCE

AND OPPORTUNITY. "I didn't say exactly that," Dr. Fulda corrected. "But it is one expression of a truth which I put in different words.

"For me America is the country where every one has a chance; an opportunity to rise above the condition to which he was born. America is the land of spiritual endeavor as well as the land of economic prosperity. That is my first and last thought of your country; that is why my heart turns to it. And that is why I myself am so glad to return to you once more, after the absence of years."

Dr. Fulda spoke slowly, since he has so ponder a bit over the framing of his excellent English sentences. But his eyes glowed. They are a very dark which deepens almost to black when he is earnest or excited, and they are set deep beneath the brow of an idealist. He has black hair and a dark brown mustache, reminiscences of · Semitic strain. Of medium height, he has somewhat escaped the large Clameter characteristic of the German after forty. Indeed, the only obviously Teutonic hallmarks are his deep blue eyes and a certain military set to the equare shoulders.

"But are we without class spirit?" I saked, rather doubtfully. "Isn't the distinction between rich and poor as strongly marked in America as between high-born and low-born in Europe?" TO-DAY WE ALL WANT TO MAKE MONEY.

"The worship of wealth is the fault of the age," argued Lr. Fulda. "It can-not be fairly attributed to America alone. To-day we all want to make money. We in Europe are as fond of money, and of the possessors of it, as you in America. But if there is one enemy strong enough to overthrow capitalism it is democracy. And America la democratic.

"I think that Europe has the wrong idea of this country. Too much emphasis has been placed upon your devotion to the material side of life. You are intensely practical, and you have accomplished marvels in mechanics and economics. But I believe that you are more strongly swayed by spiritual en-deavor than by the effort for material

It is refreshing to be told that w. have a talent for something besides graft. In short, that we are not alto see that unfamiliar "spiritual endeavor" tracked to its lair, so I asked Dr. Fulda where he observed it.

"The fine possibilities of the American spirit are shown in your wonderful educational systems," he
